Art Unit: 2154

1. Claims 1-12 are presented for examination.

2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claim 12 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. The claim is directed to a program per se.

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Davis-Hall (6,601,066).

Davis Hall taught the invention as claimed including receiving a request for a Uniform Resource Locator, the request originating from a referring Uniform Resource Locator (col. 3, lines 46-67); communicating a response to the request; and storing in a database the requested Uniform Resource Locator and the referring Uniform Resource Locator to determine if an error exists in the response (col. 4).

As to claim 2, Davis-Hall taught storing a status code associated with the response (col. 5-6).

As to claim 3, Davis-Hall taught storing a file size associated with the response.

As to claim 4, Davis-Hall taught storing in the database a status code associated with the response and a file size associated with the response (col. 5-6).

As to claim 5, Davis-Hall taught if the response contains no data, then storing in the database the referring Uniform Resource Locator (Col. 5-6).

As to claim 6, Davis-Hall taught of presenting to a user at least two of 1) the requested Uniform Resource Locator, 2) the referring Uniform Resource Locator, 3) a status code associated with the response, and 4) a file size associated with the response (col. 5-6).

Claims 7-12 are rejected for similar rationale as claims 1-6.
